Main Airports and connections to Central London:

- London City Airport: Small airport located in central London and well connected to the TFL network; the airport has its own stop on the DLR, which takes you to Tube interchange stations such as Canning Town on the Jubilee Line which provides a very quick connection to Baker Street and to the Royal Academy of Music.
- Heathrow Airport: Heathrow Express (<https://www.heathrowexpress.com/#/>) for Paddington Station (a couple of stops away from Academy on the Bakerloo line) provides the quickest connection to Central London. The Airport has its own underground stops on the Piccadilly Line, which is a reliable way of reaching the airport but at the same time a slower connection than the Heathrow Express.
- Gatwick Airport: Gatwick Express (<https://www.gatwickexpress.com/>) for Victoria Station provides the quickest connection to Central London. Another good option when reaching Academy would be the Thameslink trains (<https://www.thameslinkrailway.com/>) to London Bridge followed by the Jubilee underground line to Baker Street.
- Luton Airport: Connected to Central London with East Midland Trains (<https://www.eastmidlandsrailway.co.uk/>) or the Thameslink trains (<https://www.thameslinkrailway.com/>).
- Stansted Airport: The Stansted Express (<https://www.stanstedexpress.com/>) provides the quickest connection to Central London (Liverpool Street Station); although National Express (<https://www.nationalexpress.com/en>) coaches are probably better to reach Academy as they stop at Baker Street Station.
- Southend Airport: Trains from Liverpool Street Station run continuously from 4:30 to 00:50 (but check before you travel for any disruption).
