

Adding new colours to the AEC's spectrum

towards an AEC Folk-Trad-Glob Working Group

Topic-specific working groups have a long tradition in AEC, and PJP is just one of many of them. An AEC working group gives the respective community the opportunity to exchange ideas with partners at European level, to share good practice and to network. Within the structures of the AEC, these topic-specific working groups also function as a kind of expert group, without whose advisory support AEC leaders would not be able to fulfil their tasks.

In this session, committed members of the Folk, Traditional, World and Global music community will present together with members of the AEC Council and representatives of the AEC Office the status of their efforts to establish a new AEC Working Group on this topic, equal to and independent of, but working in concert with, other topic-specific AEC Working Groups, and to discuss it with the participants of the PJP meeting. and discuss it with the participants of the PJP meeting.
