

PATHS TO
ARTISTIC EXPERIMENTATION ARTISTIC FROM HADES
IDENTITY
TO HEAVEN

Orpheus Institute

Ghent

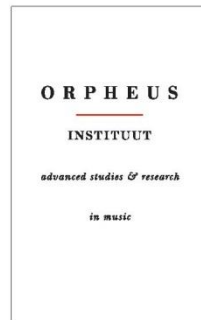

2–4 October, 2013

The Orpheus Research Centre in Music [ORCiM] is pleased to announce that its fifth annual Research Festival will take place in October 2013. The Festival will explore new paths to Artistic Identity, tracking Artistic Experimentation from Hades to Heaven, and back.

A showcase festival of research, music and ideas

The 2013 edition of the ORCiM Research Festival represents the culmination of the centre's three-year long concentration on the theme of Artistic Experimentation in Music. ORCiM has been using the concept of Artistic Experimentation as a catalyst for creating new understanding in Artistic Research across the artistic disciplines. Processes of Artistic Experimentation in musical practice may provide novel ways of illuminating the new knowledge that arises through the experience of art making: generating novel concepts, developing atypical performances and encouraging new technologies — most relevant factors of the individual and the collective artistic identity.

This year's Research Festival will present a series of interwoven outcomes, using the architecture and layout of the Orpheus Institute itself as a part of the 'experimental system'. From its basement rooms to its recently completed rooftop additions, it is intended to generate a multi-layered environment of experimentation, engaging and involving audiences in a range of types and levels of discussion and workshop activity.

WHEN?

From Wednesday October 2 through Friday October 4.

WHERE?

Orpheus Institute
Korte Meer 12, 9000 Ghent
Belgium

REGISTRATION / FEE

Participants can register until September 15, 2013 through the registration form to be found online.

€ 60 participation fee (includes morning and afternoon teas, a dinner and festival brochure).

Early bird registration (before September 1) at € 45. Please note that the number of participants is limited!

PROGRAMME INFO

An extended programme overview and festival brochure will become available online in due time.

WANT TO BE INFORMED?

Sign up for the Orpheus Newsletter through info@orpheusinstituut.be

www.orpheusinstituut.be
www.researchfestival.be
www.orcim.be

PATHS TO ARTISTIC EXPERIMENTATION ARTISTIC FROM HADES IDENTITY TO HEAVEN

Orpheus Institute

Ghent

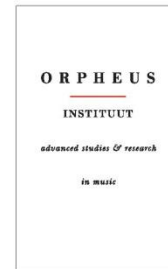

2–4 October, 2013

The Orpheus Research Centre in Music [ORCiM] is pleased to announce that its fifth annual Research Festival will take place in October 2013. The Festival will explore new paths to Artistic Identity, tracking Artistic Experimentation from Hades to Heaven, and back.

A showcase festival of research, music and ideas

The 2013 edition of the ORCiM Research Festival represents the culmination of the centre's three-year long concentration on the theme of Artistic Experimentation in Music. ORCiM has been using the concept of Artistic Experimentation as a catalyst for creating new understanding in Artistic Research across the artistic disciplines. Processes of Artistic Experimentation in musical practice may provide novel ways of illuminating the new knowledge that arises through the experience of art making: generating novel concepts, developing atypical performances and encouraging new technologies — most relevant factors of the individual and the collective artistic identity.

This year's Research Festival will present a series of interwoven outcomes, using the architecture and layout of the Orpheus Institute itself as a part of the 'experimental system'. From its basement rooms to its recently completed rooftop additions, it is intended to generate a multi-layered environment of experimentation, engaging and involving audiences in a range of types and levels of discussion and workshop activity.

WHEN?

From Wednesday October 2 through Friday October 4.

WHERE?

Orpheus Institute
Korte Meer 12, 9000 Ghent
Belgium

REGISTRATION / FEE

Participants can register until September 15, 2013 through the registration form to be found online.

€ 60 participation fee (includes morning and afternoon teas, a dinner and festival brochure).

Early bird registration (before September 1) at € 45. Please note that the number of participants is limited!

PROGRAMME INFO

An extended programme overview and festival brochure will become available online in due time.

WANT TO BE INFORMED?

Sign up for the Orpheus Newsletter through info@orpheusinstituut.be

www.orpheusinstituut.be
www.researchfestival.be
www.orcim.be