

An aerial, high-angle photograph of a bustling night market. The market is composed of numerous stalls, each covered by a brightly colored, translucent tent or canopy. The colors are diverse, including shades of blue, yellow, orange, red, purple, and green, creating a mosaic-like pattern from above. The stalls are arranged in a somewhat grid-like fashion, with narrow aisles between them. People can be seen walking through the aisles, and the overall atmosphere is one of a lively, crowded event. The lighting is a mix of the ambient night light and the warm, artificial lights from the stalls and surrounding area.
